

Fathers of the First Six Ecumenical Councils

Today, on this Sunday that falls between July 13 and July 19, the Church commemorates the Fathers of the First Six Ecumenical Councils. These councils took place over the span of 356 years (325-681).

What follows is excerpted from a longer article located at www.oca.org/saints/lives:

The Orthodox Church acknowledges Seven Holy Ecumenical Councils. The fact that the Seventh Ecumenical Council (Nicea II) is not commemorated today testifies to the antiquity of today's celebration. The Seventh Council, commemorated on the Sunday nearest to October 11, was convened at Nicea in the year 787 against the Iconoclast heresy, under the emperor Constantine and his mother Irene.

The Church venerates the Holy Fathers of the Ecumenical Councils because Christ has established them as "lights upon the earth," guiding us to the true Faith. "Adorned with the robe of truth," the doctrine of the Fathers, based upon the preaching of the Apostles, has established one faith for the Church. The Ecumenical Councils, are the highest authority in the Church. Such Councils, guided by the grace of the Holy Spirit, and accepted by the Church, are infallible.

The Orthodox Church's conciliar definitions of dogma have the highest authority, and such definitions always begin with the Apostolic formula: "It seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us..." (Acts 15: 28).

The Ecumenical Councils were always convened for a specific reason: to combat false opinions and heresies, and to clarify the Orthodox Church's teaching. But the Holy Spirit has thus seen fit, that the dogmas, the truths of faith, immutable in their content and scope, constantly and consequently are revealed by the conciliar mind of the Church, and are given precision by the holy Fathers within theological concepts and terms in exactly such measure as is needed by the Church itself for its economy of salvation. The Church, in expounding its dogmas, is dealing with the concerns of a given historical moment, "not revealing everything in haste and thoughtlessly, nor indeed, ultimately hiding something" (Saint Gregory the Theologian).

The holy Fathers are the renowned keepers of the Apostles' tradition;

They rightly taught that the Trinity was undivided, and their assembly dethroned Arius and those with him:
the Macedonians who rejected the authority of the Church were convicted;
Nestórius, Eutýchius, Dióscorus, Sabéllius, and Severus were judged.

O Lord, deliver us from their error, we pray,
and preserve our lives in peace!
